Says It Made a New Person of Him

Thousands of people needlessly endure a half-sick, nervous, run-down condition when they might enjoy sturdy, robust health and all its manifold blessings if they only knew what to do. People in this condition find Tanhu soon ends their trouble and builds up abundant strength, energy and vitality. John A. Monaghan, R. F. D. Box 12, Lakewood, Pa., says:
"I was suffering from stomach trouble, constipation, kidney disorders and nervousness and was told that my time for this world was short. But Tanhu absolutely overcame every one of these troubles, built me up several pounds, and made me feel like a brand new man."

Nervousness and run down, tired-out feeling are but symptoms of a hidden cause, which usually lies in the stomach. Tanhu enables you to digest your food properly, eliminate waste and regain your old time strength and vigor. Get a bottle today at any good drugstore. Advertisement.

State Candidates of the Republican Party Stand High in Public Esteem

Fayette county Republicans, when state elections go to the polls on November 7, will cast their ballots for four state candidates. They are:

David J. Davis, nominee for lieutenant governor;
James F. Woodward, nominee for secretary of internal affairs;
Mr. Pinchot, nominee for governor.

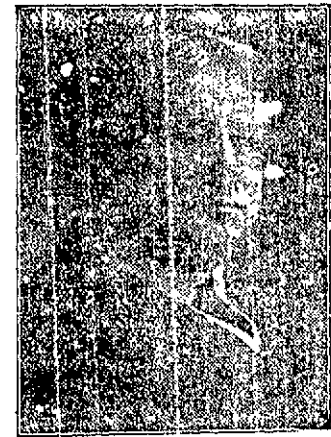

Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Davis, and their platform are well known to Fayette county voters ever since their three receptions in Fayette county last week. The candidate for governor is a man of an old Pennsylvania family and of international prominence in forestry work. A graduate of Yale, he has developed an interest in forestry work in the United States and began the first systematic forest work and preservation of American forests as chief forester for the United States under President Roosevelt. Pinchot served on the commission organization of government scientific work, the Commission on Department of the Interior, the National Waterways Commission and the Commission on Country Life. He was chairman of the National Conservation Commission in 1908; was appointed commissioner forestry by Governor Sprule and has given that department the most effective administration of any forest department in the country. Pinchot is a farmer, forester, hunter, fisherman, and able executive.

David J. Davis

David J. Davis, the nominee for lieutenant governor, is a veteran of two wars, having served in the Spanish War and the World War. He was the only former National Guard officer to be made chief of staff in France during the World War. A former state commander of the American Legion, he has the unqualified support of the veterans throughout the James F. Woodward, nominee for secretary of internal affairs, is well known in Fayette county. A native of Allegheny county, he was educated in the public schools there and at the University of Pittsburgh. For 15 years, prior to 1919, he was superintendent of the McKeesport General Hospital and served almost continuously as a member of the Pennsylvania Legislature from 1904 to 1917. He was chairman of the House Appropriation Committee and for four years was a member of the Pennsylvania Tax Commission. His administration was so successful that he was recommended as candidate for secretary of internal affairs without opposition from his own party.

Robert S. Gaudin

Robert S. Gaudin, the nominee for judge of the Superior Court, is a native of Chester county and was admitted to the bar of that county in October, 1901. Almost immediately he became prominent as a practitioner and until his appointment to the common pleas court bench in Chester county, took part in nearly every important case in his county, either as a direct or consulting counsel. Following his retirement from the common pleas bench, he was appointed first deputy attorney general of the State and figured in all matters of state-wide importance which came up during the terms of William F. Schaef for and George F. Allen. Upon the resignation of Judge Head he was appointed to the vacancy on the Superior Court bench and subsequently was unanimously nominated by the Republican publicans for the full term of 10 years.

MEMORIAL NOT WELL KNOWN

Block of Granite on Colorado-New Mexico Border Erected in Honor of President Garfield.

Just over the Colorado border in New Mexico and on the eastern slope of the great continental divide stands a large block of granite—a monument. An unknown monument, it is called by some names. It is known only to those who happen to pass it on the little narrow gauge branch of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad.

Towering more than a thousand feet above the rugged floor of Teller county on the very brink of a precipice, it stands as a reminder of the voice of President James Abraham Garfield. It is in the most prominent of the entire range of the San Juan mountains, a place where one could least expect to find anything of nature's grandeur.

It was September 26, 1881, that a local train was carrying members of the National Association of General Agents and Travel Agents over the mountains. President Garfield, who had been wounded by an assassin's bullet, had died a few days before. When the train emerged from a tunnel and crept out onto the half flat overland Teller gorge it stopped. It was the hour funeral services were being conducted for the president. Each of the party gathered rocks and piled them high as a temporary monument.

When the party was again in Denver a monument was purchased and sent to replace the little pile of rocks.

PLACE OF SUPREME BLISS

Seventh Heaven Believed to Be the Abode of the Almighty and the Chief Angels.

The Seventh heaven is the highest of the seven heavens of the ancient Jewish Kabbalists, or mystics, who dwell the Almighty and the chief angels; hence a state of ecstatic or supreme bliss. In the system of the old Jewish mystics the seven heavens rose one above another, like the stages of a mighty building. First came the space between the clouds and the earth; second, the realm of the clouds; third, fourth fifth and sixth, the abode of the Lord God and the Seraphim. Heaven, according to Dante, in the "Paradiso" begins from the top of Mount Purgatory and rises upward through the seven planetary spheres, the portion of the fixed stars, and the "primum mobile," and gradually, by "moving circles" beneath the empyrean, the sphere of "unbodied light," "the heaven of the heavens," at the center of which is the throne of God. Milton follows in some division in "Paradise Lost."—Chicago Journal.

Intended Compliment

A clergyman was about to leave his church one evening when he encountered an old lady standing in the doorway on the front. Finding her desirous of seeing the location of the church, he volunteered to show her over, and the fastidious old lady, much gratified at this unexpected offer of a personally conducted tour, shyly accepted it. By and by they came to a handsome tablet on the right of the pulpit. "That," exclaimed the good man, "is a memorial tablet erected to the memory of the late vicar." "There, now! Ah! it is beautiful!" exclaimed the admiring old lady. "And I'm sure, sir, I hope it won't be long before we see one erected to you on 'father's day'."

Woodpecker is Nature's Lineman

The downy woodpecker, the hairy woodpecker and the flicker all seem possessed with a mania for killing destructive wood-boring larvae, says the American Forestry Magazine. Better equipped than a telephone lineman for climbing; supported by a spurred tail; provided with hooked claws for clinging to the bark; hammer-headed, chisel-beaked and armed with a frenum, a tongue, strong, lance-pointed, barbed, extremely rugged, the woodpecker drills through the wood directly into the spot where the boring has hidden, pushes in the tip of his barbed tongue, seizes the victim and whips it quickly into his open beak.

Giving Children Good Teeth

Here are the rules of the British Dental association for the care of children's teeth:

Be sure the child sleep with the mouth shut, and when awake breathes through the nose. From the age of two let each meal contain some food that needs grinding. Begin the child's education in hard foods at nine months by giving it a bone, preferably a chop bone, which is a little meat on to exercise its gums. Do not let children drink until the end of the meal. Avoid many sweets and sweet biscuits, and only give them as part of a meal. Finish each meal with a piece of fresh fruit or crisp salad, or, if these are not obtainable a stale crust of bread, with butter if preferred, but not with jam.

Not for Peepers

At one time Blackpool, famous English watering place, was celebrated for the propriety of her bathing arrangements. When a bell rang at a fixed hour all ladies wishing to bathe came out clad in voluminous costumes, while every man had to remain indoors. Any man discovered in the street or at the window was fined a bottle of wine. When a bell rang after the ladies had finished, the men came out similarly protected.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking laxatives, or trying to get up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a healthy, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested food? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. Eat and sleep.

THE SOISSON.

"YOUR BEST FRIEND," an appealing photodrama starring Vera Gordon in her latest vehicle, provides splendid entertainment today at this theatre. Miss Gordon once more graces the screen as the eternal mother. She plays the part of a widow who, at the outset, is surprised to learn that her son has married without ever having told her he had a sweetheart. She takes the shock calmly, and welcomes her daughter-in-law; but she soon discovers that the girl is a snob with an equally snobbish and socially ambitious mother. To please her son, Mrs. Meyers (Miss Gordon) is transported from a lowly existence to one among the social elite. Here she sees her daughter-in-law with her mother squandering her money on gay parties and midnight suppers. At every turn Mrs. Meyers is snubbed, and it does not dawn upon her that she is merely the financial weapon for the gratification of the whims and fancies of her daughter-in-law. In time, however, she sees the light, and in the process Miss Gordon is said to render one of the finest characterizations of her screen career.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday "The Crossroads of New York" will be shown.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE MAN WHO MARRIED HIS OWN WIFE," showing today and tomorrow at this theatre, is a Universal attraction featuring Frank Mayo. Mr. Mayo has a role of a man whose soul was embittered by the coldness of his wife, coldness which he believed resulted from his ugliness and lack of refinement. The game wreck in which his heroism had won her had given him a disfigured face. He had won wealth, had given her everything. But his face remained; and he saw her more and more in the company of handsome, younger men, a fine society set. Becoming a self-made ghost through apparent suicide, he keeps "stab" on his wife's movements for a while and with a new face and new manner courts her a second time. It's an interesting story from both the human and the mystery angles. Sylvia Brainer renders commendable support in the chief feminine role, while Marie Crisp, Francis MacDonald, Howard Trampton and Joseph Girard handle principal parts. Stuart Paton, director of "Conflict," and author of one of Mayo's best pictures, "Dr. Jim," directed "The Man Who Married His Own Wife." The story was written by John Fleming Wilson and Mary Ashe Miller, and published in the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Friday and Saturday Franklin Farnum will be seen in "Gold Grubbers."

THE ORPHEUM.

"THE BRIDE'S PLAY," the leading attraction today and tomorrow at this theatre, is a Paramount picture with Marion Davies in the stellar role.

"The Bride's Play" was adapted to the screen by Mildred Conscience from a story in Hearst's Magazine by Don Byrne, author of "The Woman God Changed," a recent Paramount-Cosmopolitan success. Under the direction of George W. Terwilliger, the picture is a gorgeous love story about which is woven a delightful atmosphere of the rich romanticism of the Irish people.

Miss Davies is seen as an appealing, kindly girl, fresh from school, whose guileless heart is won by a workingman and worldly poet. How she learns of the duplicity of the poet and finds her true love forms a fascinating story that is staged amid marvelously fine medieval castles and chapels and majestic natural scenery.

Supporting Miss Davies is Wyndham Standing, an actor popular with all film fans. Others in the cast include Carlton Miller, Jack O'Brien, Thelma Taylor, Richard Cummings, Julia Hurley and Eleanor Middleton.

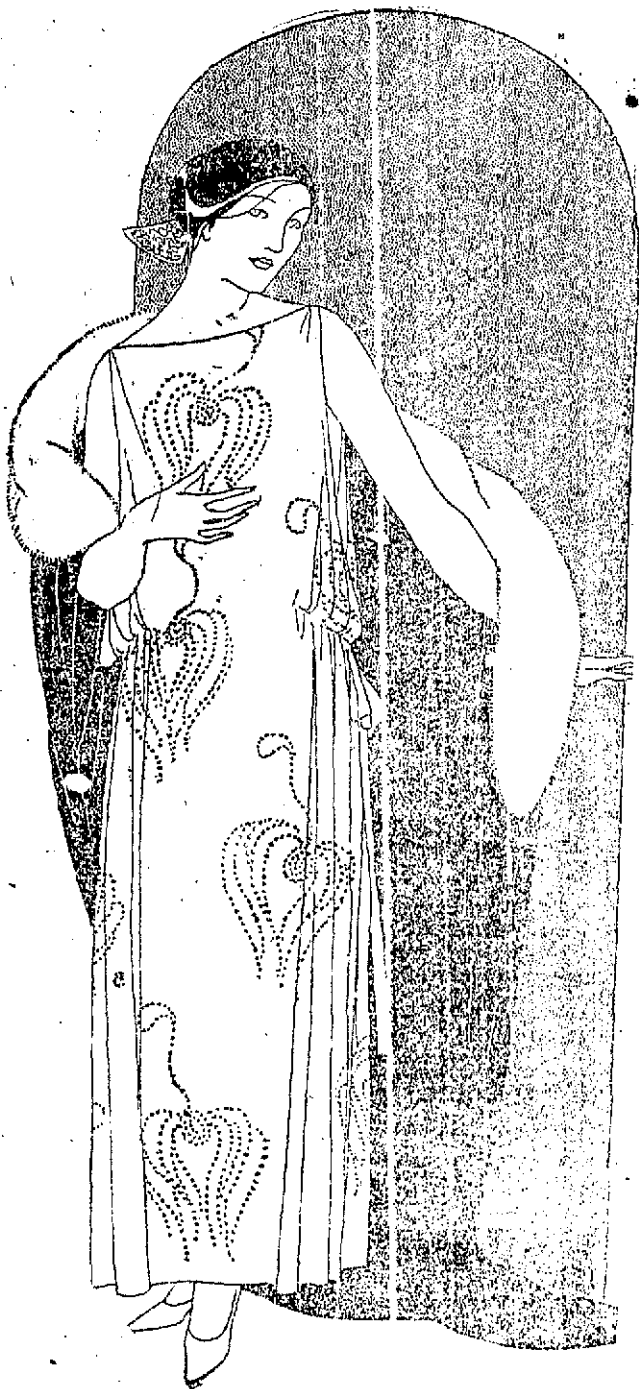

Friday and Saturday William S. Hart will be seen in "Travelin' On."

THE ORPHEUM.

"BLOOD AND SAND," which will be shown at this theatre for three days, beginning next Monday, is a story of colorful Spain of moonlight, of Senoritas, of dancing and guitars, with Rodolph Valentino in the stellar role. This is the story of a bull-fighter—not bull fighting. Note the distinction. There are features of bull fighting not pleasing to American audiences—but you do not see them in "Blood and Sand." You are given all the verve, color and thrill of combat in the bull-ring, with Valentino in front of a wild bull, minus everything not in accord with American ideals. Retained in every respect are the colorful country scenes, the life in the hostile streets, the crowds in the cafes, just as Ibanex so grippingly portrayed them. It's a story that has a thousand points of interest—contact. Picture patrons admire Valentino as a lover. Many critics called him the greatest lover the screen has ever seen. In "Blood and Sand" you see him in love with two different kinds of women, you see the warm, tender love, the passionate, surging love. And the women he loves are Lila Lee and Nita Naldi, two types as different as night is from day.

American Women Are Careless.
Women are too apt to overestimate their strength and overtax it. When feeling well, they take unnecessary chances, which in the long run cause much pain and trouble. Why feel exposure to cold, lifting heavy burdens and overwork will often develop troubles which cause no end of suffering. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the unfailing remedy in such cases. Thousands of American women will testify to this fact who have regained health and strength by its use. If you are suffering it will pay you to give it a fair trial—advertising.

TRY BOLD FAKE IN PLAN TO SELL OIL STOCK TO PUBLIC

Schemers Prepare a Bogus
Geological Survey Map to Deceive Investors.

CROOKS, SAYS DIRECTOR

Special to The Courier.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—A case of bare-faced misrepresentation by a company engaged in selling oil-stock is brought to the attention of the public by the director of the United States Geological Survey. In the advertising matter of this company, in order to impress the reader with the belief that the government has endorsed the particular enterprise as a "sure thing," a map of the region published by the Geological Survey is said to be reproduced.

On the map as printed in the rather elaborate prospectus a route of supposed oil drainage extends from the St. Lawrence river, in Canada, southwestward across the Adirondacks and the intervening states to a point on the Mississippi river. Another route of presumed oil drainage is shown as extending from the Lake Superior iron range across Wisconsin, Illinois and southward along the Mississippi. A third route of drainage is mapped as extending from the Canadian boundary, in western Montana, through the Yellowstone Park, and heading in a bee-line for eastern Louisiana.

As is usual in stock promotion literature where such bogus maps are used to beguile the small investor, the three purported drainage routes unite exactly in the area where the company properties are located, which area in this particular instance lies on the east side of the Mississippi river in Louisiana. The title of this map reads "United States Geological Survey map showing center of the oil drainage of United States." On another page of their pamphlet under the heading "What Uncle Sam Says About It," the promoters say:

"Look at the map which shows the result of the United States Geological Survey. The map was made from Plate 1, Bulletin 429. This survey shows the oil drainage of the United States. As you can readily see, our holdings are right in the center of it. The government geologists are unprejudiced and their conclusions are at ways regarded as authentic and final."

So far as the last sentence is true, Director Smith of the United States Geological Survey states without prejudice that his "final conclusion" is that the authors and makers of this prospectus are plain crooks. There is no resemblance or connection between the government map specifically referred to and the oil map of the promoters. Nor did the Geological Survey or any other authority ever publish such a "drainage" map. It is not only fraudulent and untruthful in every respect but absurd to the extreme.

Impressed by their advertising matter, the promoters are either crude crooks on their own account or the simple-minded dupes of their "experts." In either case they are not trustworthy advisers of the small investors to whom they make their appeal.

TWO TINY WIRES

Each Connellsville Bell Telephone subscriber is connected to the Connellsville central office by wires—two tiny wires.

These wires pass through a maze of cables and coils, through delicate apparatus that must be kept in careful adjustment.

And that isn't the end of it, for there must be apparatus to connect each Connellsville telephone with any other Bell telephone in the nation.

The job of building and maintaining this complicated equipment is done by two-listed men—men who think in terms of never-failing service.

Their too is the task of installing new telephones, and of maintaining them.

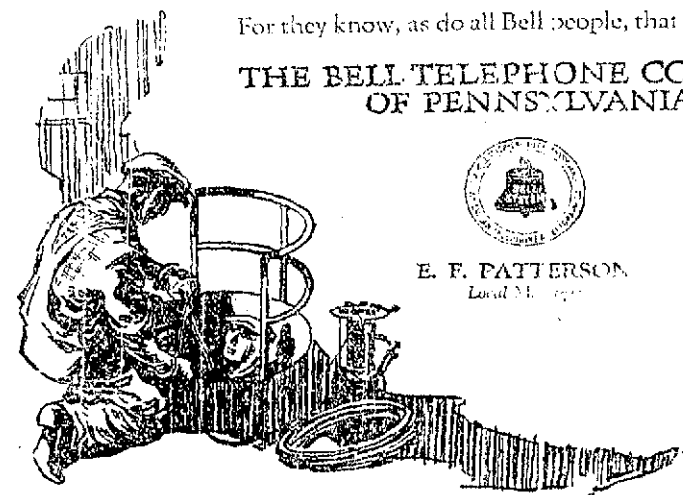

One outstanding quality characterizes these men—they are imbued with the spirit of courtesy.

When they come into your home or your office, you find them anxious to do their work quickly, efficiently and neatly.

They want you to feel that should they return at some future day you will welcome them.

For they know, as do all Bell people, that courtesy pays.
